To this Act the Royal Assent was announced by the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly in the following words:—

"The Honourable the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province doth thank Her Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, accept their benevolence and assent to this Bill in Her Majesty's name."

The Honourable the Lieutenant-Governor was then pleased to deliver the following gracious speech:—

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly:—

Before proroguing this Fourth Session of the Twenty-fourth Legislature of the Province of Ontario, I wish, in the name of Her Majesty, to thank you for your consideration of the many measures that have been introduced and your faithful attention to the requirements of this rapidly expanding economy.

During this Session many enactments have been passed. All of them are designed in some measure to promote the Province's development, to increase production and income, to assist the municipalities, to improve our educational system, to strengthen the freedom of our democratic heritage, to extend human welfare, in short, to make Ontario a better place in which to live.

The Government has been concerned not only with promoting an environment conducive to industrial expansion and the creation of employment opportunities, but also with endeavouring always to assure the constant advance of human betterment in all sectors of the Province.

A notable advance was made when you approved The Fair Accommodation Practices Act. This is one of several measures that have been adopted in this Legislature in the last ten years to make Ontario a home of free men, where the peoples of different racial origins and religious faiths may live and work in harmony. By these Acts, you have declared your opposition to discrimination. The first Act in this series, The Racial Discrimination Act, was passed in 1944. In 1950, The Conveyancing and Law Property Act was amended, rendering covenants void that restrict the sale, ownership, occupation or use of land because of race or creed. In that year, The Labour Relations Act was also passed, invalidating any collective agreement between labour and management that discriminates against any person because of his race or religious faith. In 1951, you gave your approval to The Fair Employment Practices Act, and now you have endorsed The Fair Accommodation Practices Act. The Select Committee on Indian Affairs has submitted its report containing many recommendations, one of which finds fruition in The Election Act passed at this Session. Henceforth, Indians in Ontario—numbering 35,000—will have full voting rights in provincial elections, while at the same time their Treaty rights will continue to be respected and preserved for them. The recommendations of the Committee will do much to improve the status and living conditions of these people. The feeling of tension and insecurity that exists throughout the world today underscores the need for a clear recognition of human rights and fundamental freedoms. By these measures you have given unmistakable evidence that the inherent dignity of mankind and the inalienable, and equal, rights of all members of the human family, which are the very foundation of a democratic society, are to be treasured and respected in this Province.

In the field of welfare, you have given your approval to the enactment of several new measures. The capital construction grant for charitable institutions has been doubled. Measures have been adopted for increasing the number of homes for the aged. There has been a consolidation into one act of The Children's Protection Act, The Adoption Act and The Children of Unmarried Parents Act, bringing this legislation into conformity with the most modern practice.

You have approved various acts providing for new advances in the field of health. Among them is an Act designed to promote community mental health by providing advice and assistance in this respect to hospitals and local public health agencies. You have also authorized public hospitals to extend treatment services in respect of patients suffering from psychiatric disorders.

In education, there has been a consolidation into three Acts of various provisions, which were scattered through a considerable number of statutes. You have also approved an amendment to The Teachers' Superannuation Act which will result in higher pensions for school teachers. To assist in the maintenance of our educational system, increased capital and maintenance grants have been provided for school boards and universities.

Of almost universal benefit to the people of this Province is the new enactment providing for an expansion of the provincial parks system. With the growth in our population and the increase in urban development, park lands have become increasingly important for the enjoyment and recreation of our people. The new policy provides for both an improvement of existing parks and for the acquisition of new park areas which will preserve the beauties of the countryside and be reflected in the health and happiness of the people.

The improvement to Ontario's rural telephone service, which was started under the Rural Telephone Systems Act of 1951, will now receive fresh impetus under the bill passed at this Session, providing for the creation of The Ontario Telephone Authority. Funds have also been provided to continue the extension of hydro-electric power in the rural parts of Ontario.

With the continuing increase in motor vehicle traffic, another extensive program of highway construction will be undertaken during the coming year. The Select Committee on Highways will be provided with every opportunity and facility for an examination of highway administration. Another Select Committee will examine into the great problem of highway safety.

To make provision for an extraordinary expansion in the market for natural gas in Ontario, you have authorized the establishment of the Ontario Fuel Board to control and regulate the production and distribution of natural gas and to maintain adequate coal and other fuel supplies in the Province in emergencies.

You have approved the setting up of a Committee of Inquiry into the Economics of the Gold Mining Industry.

The work of the Select Committees on Indian Affairs, Reform Institutions, Cemeteries, Companies, Lake Levels, Election and Voters' Lists and Redistribution has been concluded, and the chairmen and members of these committees are to be highly commended for their conscientious and able endeavours.

The Committee on Reform Institutions has submitted its report to the Legislature and it is being studied, and will continue to be studied, with utmost care in the implementation of a long-range program of prison reform and rehabilitation.

The Committee on Cemeteries has made valuable recommendations which have been translated into amendments to The Cemeteries Act, dealing with the perpetual care of funds and the administration and sale of cemetery lots.

The Committee on Lands and Forests has been giving consideration to the White Paper on Forestry. This White Paper sets out the Province's long-term aims for the elimination of indiscriminate cutting, the integration of operations to secure the maximum value from timber resources, the provision of access roads and the strengthening of the forest and game protection and conservation services. At this Session, The Crown Timber Act was amended, requiring timber licensees to adopt measures to assure the regeneration of cut-over areas.

Special mention should be made of the Committee on Agriculture. This Committee has been considering a bill for the consolidation of The Milk Control Act, The Dairy Products Act, The Milk and Cream Act and provisions of The Farm Products Marketing Act and The Farm Products Grades and Sales Act dealing with dairy products. The object of this legislation has been to provide better over-all management and co-ordination of all activities relating to dairy producers and the orderly marketing of their products. Such a wide area of agreement was reached in the discussions that the Committee has been able to report back to the Legislature with the result that you have passed The Milk Industry Act, 1954, bringing this program into effect.

Several other agricultural Acts, such as The Plant Diseases Act, The Livestock and Livestock Products Act, The Bees Act and The Agricultural Societies Act, have been amended and revised.

The work of the Committee on Redistribution has made rapid progress, and on the basis of its recommendations an enactment has been approved, increasing the number of constituencies and members in the Legislature to 98. The effect of this Act is to provide additional representation for areas of the Province in which large increases in population have been experienced.

The activities of other committees of the House, including the Private Bills Committee, the Committee on Election Laws and the Committees on Companies and Mines, have been carried forward in a diligent and capable manner, and I congratulate all the members of these committees for the contribution they have made to the study and solution of these important problems.

You have amended The Labour Relations Act to clarify and improve the administration and associated powers for dealing with collective bargaining. Another Act provides protection for persons working in trenches by assuring that they be shored and timbered in accordance with appropriate standards.

You have made amendments to The Municipal Act and The Assessment Act. The Municipal Subsidies Adjustment Act, 1953, has been amended in order to provide that a municipality will not receive less under The Unconditional Grants Act, The Fire Departments Act and The Police Act than it received in 1953 in respect of the maintenance and operation of its fire department and police force and the one-mill subsidy.

You have approved an amendment to The Theatres Act, 1953, providing that no drive-in theatre may be constructed in a township without the approval of the council of the township. An amendment to The Fire Marshals Act has been passed, putting into statutory form the standards for fire hose couplings and requiring that they be maintained. Amendments have been made to The Corporations Act, 1953, and The Corporations Information Act, 1953. The Juvenile and Family Courts Act and The Parents Maintenance Act have been revised.

During the present Session, you have also passed an Act strengthening the financial administration of the Government of Ontario and providing improved financial control of departmental expenditures.

The large developmental program of the Government has been financed without the necessity of imposing any new forms of taxation or of raising rates of existing taxes. Indeed, amendments have been enacted providing for certain minor tax reductions.

To assist the municipalities to finance their services, the Province has provided another increase in its grants to local governments, school boards and public general hospitals. Large capital and maintenance grants have again been authorized for municipal roads and health, welfare and educational services.

Housing also continues to be a subject of active interest and support by the Government, and financial provisions are being made to carry on the various programs available under Federal-Provincial partnership arrangements.

I thank the Honourable Members for the appropriation of public funds to carry on the essential services of the Government.

I pray that Divine Providence will continue to bless this Province and that the legislative program adopted at this Session will enhance the well-being, happiness and security of our people.

The Provincial Secretary then said:—

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly:—

It is the will and pleasure of the Honourable the Lieutenant-Governor that this Legislative Assembly be prorogued and this Legislative Assembly is accordingly prorogued.

ALEX. C. LEWIS, Q.C.,
Clerk of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario.
